Sustainable poultry production in Ukraine

17 October 2024

Join us for the International Forum on Sustainable Poultry Production in Ukraine on 17 October 2024. This event aims to shed light on pertinent issues related to sustainable poultry farming and animal welfare that are critical to understanding current industry trends.

Engage in insightful discussions led by esteemed international and Ukrainian experts, focusing on topics of particular relevance to farm professionals, managers at all levels, and scientists alike. The Forum will feature engaging plenary sessions and specialised discussions, culminating in a thought-provoking panel debate.
